Re: Invitation to Emerging Local Government Leaders Forum

Dear Rob:

On behalf of the Emerging Local Government Leaders (ELGL), I would like to extend you an invitation to speak at the ELGL January Lunch Forum. Many of our members work or live in Oregon's 1st congressional district.

We know you are busy connecting with constituents in the final weeks before the election, and therefore we have some flexibility in the date for your potential appearance at the ELGL forum. Possible dates include January 4, 5, 17, 18, and 20. Our lunch meetings are held from 11:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. in Tigard.

Our members are interested in hearing about your platform, if elected, to serve the 1st congressional district. In particular, we are interested in your view of local government in Oregon and how you plan to work and assist them as an elected official.

ELGL is comprised of more than 220 local government professionals from city managers to management interns. Thirty different cities and local government organizations, as well as Portland State University graduate students, are represented. The group seeks to address the much discussed, but rarely acted on issue of mentoring the next generation of leaders.

Previous ELGL speakers include: State Treasurer Ted Wheeler, Lake Oswego city manager Alex McIntyre, Attorney General John Kroger, Secretary of State Kate Brown, and Tom Wolfe & Amy Wang, Oregonian Editors. While our 2012 Speaker and Issue Series is highlighted by Patrick Quinton, PDC Executive Director, Neil McFarlane, Tri-Met General Manager, Mike Golub, Portland Timbers COO, and Barbara Baker, VP of Umpqua Bank.

For more information on ELGL, you can visit <http://elgl.org>, ELGL Facebook, Twitter (@OregonELGL), or ELGL LinkedIn. I can be reached at 503-718-2809.

Sincerely,
